

Case Study: Syndicated Fuel Purchasing for Golf Courses

Collective Purchasing Power Through the eGolfVillage Fuel Syndicate

Executive Summary

Fuel represents one of the largest recurring expenses for golf course operations. Through the eGolfVillage Fuel Syndicate, multiple golf courses combine their annual fuel requirements to negotiate wholesale-level contracts, achieving substantial cost savings and sustainability benefits. By aggregating demand from 50 golf courses, the program delivers predictable pricing, reduced volatility, and measurable financial impact.

Average Annual Fuel Use (Per Course)

Course Type	Gasoline (Gallons)	Diesel (Gallons)	Total Annual Use
9-Hole	25,000	15,000	40,000
18-Hole	40,000	30,000	70,000
27-Hole	70,000	50,000	120,000

Program Overview

The eGolfVillage Fuel Syndicate pools annual consumption of more than 3.5 million gallons of gasoline and diesel across 50 participating courses. This aggregated demand enables direct negotiation with regional distributors or refiners for bulk contract pricing. By consolidating orders and aligning delivery schedules, participants benefit from reduced per-gallon rates and improved logistics.

Financial Impact Summary

Metric	Value
Combined Volume (50 Courses)	3.5 Million Gallons / Year
Average Savings per Gallon	$0.50
Group Annual Savings	$1.75 Million
Average Savings per Course	$35,000
Membership Fee	$500 / Year
ROI per Course	70x

Implementation Roadmap

- Month 1: Enrollment & Data Collection
- Month 2: Volume Aggregation and Contract Modeling
- Months 3-4: Supplier Bidding and Negotiation
- Month 5: Contract Execution and Onboarding
- Month 6+: Ongoing Monitoring and Optimization

Sustainability & Future Expansion

The program supports the transition toward renewable and low-emission fuels. Participants gain access to biodiesel blends (B20), carbon offset tracking, and group initiatives for equipment electrification. Future phases include renewable diesel and EV charging infrastructure partnerships within eGolfVillage's broader sustainability platform.
